Then the Council adjourned for a recess to give the committee a chance to read and thoroughly digest the message.

Contrary to expectations the Mayor didn't rip things up in his message and the censors unanimously agreed that it would be perfectly proper to take the usual course with it and not! to refer it to a committee for the purpose of having it sleep in peace. When the board reconvened the message was read and ordered printed in pamphlet form for the edification of the taxpayers.

PROBING HUSBAND'S DEATH. Widow of Four Years Standing Now Accused of Another Man's Death. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.-An investigation is being made by the District Attorney of the circumstances of the death four years ago of Charles J. Kalch, who, according to the coroner's jury, committed suicide. The widow of Kaich is now held without bail charged with causing the death of Charles Marbach, Jr., on December 19. Her attitude in this case has caused the District Attorney to investigate her husband's death.

Kalch was shot to death on the night of June 28, 1906. Although two of the four shots pierced Kalch's lungs, apparently little or no investigation was made, according to the extremely abridged record of the case in the coroner's office. So far as these records show the witnesses were permitted to send in written statements, on the basis of which the suicide verdict

Detective Paul, who has been assigned to the case, says that Kalch had provided well for his wife with insurance and that directly after the supposed suicide one of the boarders in the Kalch home disappeared. He also says the Kalches were quarrelling before the shooting occurred.

Conflicting statements by Mrs. Kalch and her housekeeper as to the manner in which Marbach met his death resulted in Coroner Ford sending her to prison. Marbach died from carbolic acid poisoning absorbed through the pores of the skin. Mrs. Kalch declared that the poison was spilled upon him in a quarrel, but her housekeeper said that Mrs. Kalch had thrown the acid into Marbach's face, crying "Take your medicine!"
